

The Chabutra

Step into the tranquillity of our Chabutra, a traditional bird-feeding platform that symbolizes our connection with the natural world.

A Chabutra is more than just a tower-like structure; it's a sanctuary for birds, particularly pigeons, providing them with a safe nesting site. Here, visitors of all ages gather to partake in the time-honoured tradition of feeding these feathered friends, fostering a sense of harmony between humans and nature.

The base of the Chabutra features a spacious sitting platform, creating a welcoming space for social gatherings and peaceful reflection. The name 'Chabutra' derives from the Gujarati and Hindi words for 'pigeon,' reflecting the significance of these beloved birds in our culture.
